Making a complaint

to, or about Independent Disability Services

A complaint is telling someone that you are not happy with something about the services and support we offer.

We take your complaints seriously and will help you fix the problem.

Your complaint can help to make our services better for you and other IDS Clients.

It can help us:

- understand what made you unhappy
- fix the problem
- let you know why something happened
- say sorry

It is against the law for people for a worker from IDS to treat you badly if you make a complaint.

If you have a complaint talk to the person from Independent Disability Services first.

If they have not helped we have a complaint form you can fill out. You can ask for help from a friend or family member to write the complaint for you.

Send your complaint to:
IDS Complaints, Level 3, 60 Leicester Street,
Carlton, Victoria 3053.

A manager from IDS will call you and try to resolve your problem, if he or she cannot they ask the Chief Executive Officer to help.

The details of your complaint will be dealt with in a caring way that safeguards your privacy.

If you are not happy with how we have dealt with your complaint you can contact:

Office of the Disability Commissioner
Telephone 1800 677 342

Victorian Equal Opportunity and Human Rights Commission
Telephone 1300 292 153

Ombudsman Victoria
Telephone 9613 6222 or 1800 806 314

Office of the Victorian Privacy Commissioner
Telephone 1300 666 444
